

A letter from planning minister Nick Boles (pictured) to Ladbrokes has been unearthed, which said that Government was 'taking action' against local authorities. Mail

We won't stop march of betting shops, say Ministers: Government will prevent councils using planning powers to block firms opening in shopping areas

A letter from planning minister Nick Boles (pictured) to Ladbrokes has been unearthed, which said that Government was 'taking action' against local authorities. Mail

We won't stop march of betting shops, say Ministers

DOMINIC LAWSON: Money laundering, addiction and the social cancer of High Street betting shops

We should remind the Government that the Gambling Act of 2005 was to prevent gambling from being a source of crime. It has failed, writes DOMINIC LAWSON.